Woman Has Lockjaw: Injured Knee

Taken to Hospital In Critical Condition; Better Late Today

Mrs Bertha Hayden 43 was taken to the Bothwell hospital Wednesday night after she had suffered over a day from tetanus or lockjaw.

Since Tuesday noon when her jaws locked she had been unable to eat or talk until late Wednesday night. Her condition was critical but is better this afternoon and it is believed she will live.

Mrs Hayden who came from Clifton City to Sedalia last Saturday to look for employment rented a room at 515 East Third street. She told her landlady Mrs [illegible] who resides at the same address as does Frank Beck who lives upstairs that she fell on slippery rocks while crossing a small stream and skinned her knee May 22.

Went to Doctor

Mrs Hayden told her landlady that she went to a doctor for treatment and for a while the knee seemed to be healing all right.

Last Monday Mrs Hayden complained that her jaw and mouth were hurting her and Tuesday noon her jaw completely locked. Mrs [illegible] and Beck took turns looking after her but her condition did not improve.

She was taken to the hospital given tetanus shot and is now under the care of Dr [illegible] who is the county physician.

Important Events In World News

WASHINGTON June 2—(AP)—Senators trying to get some steam behind an economy drive had little to say today about a veterans pension bill overwhelmingly approved by the house.

Instead the senators applauded action of the appropriations committee in whacking off nearly $13,000,000 cash from operating funds voted by the house for the state and justice departments.

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—Federal Judge Albert L Reeves today fined Archibald Palmer defense attorney in Judith Coplon's espionage trial $100 for obvious contemptuous conduct.

It was the second such fine levied against the fast-talking New York attorney since the start of the trial April 25.

As in the case of the earlier contempt penalty Judge Reeves stipulated that the fine be paid after the end of the trial.

Today's fine grew out of Palmer's persistent questioning of T Scott Miller, Jr., an FBI agent.

Palmer was questioning Miller about 12 papers found in Miss Coplon's purse when she was arrested in New York March 4 with Valentine A Gubitchev, a Russian.

WASHINGTON June 2 (AP)—Senator Bridges (R-NH), one of the leaders of the current economy drive, branded as "ridiculous" today a suggestion that congressmen take a 5 per cent pay cut to help cut government costs.

At the same time Bridges agreed with Senator McCarthy (R-Wis) that congress should remain in session until Christmas if necessary to consider $3,000,000,000 of savings in government costs proposed by former President Hoover.

PARIS June 2 (AP)—The west handed Russia today a plan for restoring four-power control in Berlin.

A French informant said the American British and French team were priced before the Soviet Union in a 90-minute meeting of the foreign ministers council the shortest of this 10-day-old session.

The ministers will meet again tomorrow in a secret session presumably to get down to business on the opposing plans of the east and west for Berlin. [illegible] agreed that the only principle that the divided German city should be reunited under a single governing body.

Crowds Attend Auction Sale At Bard Home

House Sold to W. B. Rich, Manager Mo. Pub. Serv. Corp.

Men and women crowded around the back door of the home of the late Mr and Mrs C H Bard 209 East Broadway this morning where at 10:00 o'clock an auctioneer, Olen Downs began to sell the many and varied articles in the home to settle the estate.

Kitchen utensils and many other items were sold for little sums and again good prices, the auctioneer continued his chant. There were some things that were from long years past. Among them were old irons that were placed on the stoves and rags or papers put around the handles to keep from burning the hands. There were wash bowl and pitchers and an old bisque doll brought the sum of $16.00. An iron contraption which looked like it might have been some kind of a press was put up and the auctioneer tried in vain to find out what it was but he sold it just the same.

Antique Dealers There

One woman saw several rows of flower pots and said she would like to buy some of them and another woman wanted only one thing, a picture of George Washington.

Antique dealers were there from many places, some of them being from Neosho, Clinton, Kansas City, Lexington, Versailles, Stover and many from further distances. Some Sedalian were there in hope that they might buy some of the antiques for their home and other people were here just for fun or curiosity. There were young and old.

The afternoon started with the selling of pictures, then antique dishes and the bidding will continue long into the afternoon with the furniture being the last to be sold.

Documents Given to Soviet Spy

He Photographed Them, He Testifies; Gave Films to Communist Leader

NEW YORK June 2 (AP)—Whittaker Chambers self styled former Soviet spy ring courier, testified today that Alger Hiss turned over state department documents to him.

Chambers said he photographed those documents and gave the film to J Peters whom he identified as heading the Communist underground in this country at one time.

(Alexander Stevens alias J Peters left here by plane May 8 for his native Hungary. He had been under a deportation order but was allowed to leave voluntarily.)

Hiss is accused of lying when he denied before a federal grand jury that he ever turned over state department secrets to Chambers.

Chambers on Stand

Chambers resuming the witness stand in federal court today also testified that he conferred regularly with Hiss until the spring of 1938.

Chambers said he was introduced to Hiss by Peters and a Harold Ware.

In response to questions by assistant U S attorney Thomas F Murphy, Chambers said he recalled conversations with Hiss when the defendant was counsel for the Nye munitions investigating committee of the U S Senate.

Substance of a conversation with Hiss which he said he believed took place in 1935 was that Mr Hiss was to procure documents from the state department by using his position with the Nye committee.

Hiss Attorney Overruled

The testimony came after federal judge Samuel H Kaufman overruled Hiss attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker who protested that 1935 was three years before the alleged acts which led to the perjury charges against the former state department official.

After testifying that I could find it very difficult to paraphrase the conversation which he said took place in the Hiss home at 2905 P St N.W., Washington Chambers declared:

The substance of the conversation concerned procuring of documents from the state department by means of Mr Hiss position in the Nye committee.

Asked whether he received documents Chambers replied that he had.

Mr Hiss procured certain documents from a Mr Green which he had asked for in the name of the Nye committee Chambers testified.

When Murphy asked what the papers were Chambers replied:

They bore on munitions but I cannot be more explicit. He added they dealt with the munitions trade."

Photographed Them

Asked whether he did anything with them before returning them to Hiss Chambers answered I photographed them."

Chambers said he met Hiss three times in New York City though most of their conferences were held in Hiss Washington home.

One New York meeting he said took place in Brooklyn and Chinatown and involved Hiss Chambers and a Col Bykov.

(The House committee on un-American Activities has described Bykov as a member of the Soviet espionage network.)

Chambers said he introduced Hiss to Bykov in January or February 1937 in the Prospect theater Brooklyn after meeting Hiss in a Manhattan cafeteria and taking him to the theater by prearrangement with Col Bykov.

Alger Hiss and I went to the mezzanine and sat down on a bench and waited Chambers said. After a short time Col Bykov came out of the audience and I introduced Bykov to Hiss.

The pulpit has been occupied for the past several weeks on Sunday by Rev Ward McCreary who happened to be visiting in Sedalia and has served as guest minister.

Native of Missouri

Mr Bryan is a native of Callaway county, Missouri and entered the University of Missouri with a splendid high school record. He wanted to enter the ministry and was graduated from the university with an outstanding record of scholarship. The last two years at the university he preached for some of the small churches in the central part of the state. Because of his fine scholastic record in the university he received a scholarship from the Disciples Divinity House and attended the divinity school of the University of Chicago for the three year seminary course. He made a record there which was outstanding as a student and advanced in ability as a preacher.

Mrs Bryan is also a Missourian and is the youngest daughter of Mr and Mrs J R [illegible] of Columbia. She too was a brilliant student and was graduated from the University of Missouri where she was a member of the Phi Beta Kappa. She took her master's degree and spent one year as a member of the faculty of the Culver Stockton college at Canton before her marriage. While her husband was in the seminary she accepted a position as visitor and youth worker at the Jackson Boulevard church in Chicago and when the pastor of that church left Mr Bryan was invited to preach as an interim minister. The congregation liked him so much that they called him as permanent pastor. It is from that church that he comes to Sedalia.

Loyalty of Workers Questioned

Fierce Critic of AEC Charges Laxity In Employing Help For Secret Work

By Oliver W DeWolf

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—Capitol Hill's atomic investigation today brought stories (1) that 3,280 persons got access to secret data or work without full loyalty investigations, and (2) a guard in the missing uranium case had a police record.

Senator Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) fierce critic of the atomic energy commission produced the figures on the number of persons cleared to atomic secrets without a full FBI check first on their loyalty. AEC chairman David Lilienthal did not dispute the figures but argued vigorously that the AEC was justified in granting these emergency clearances."

Rep Elston (R-Ohio) extracted the story of the guard from Carroll Wilson the commission's general manager by a series of questions concerning a 'hypothetical case."

Elston asked Wilson to suppose a guard had been arrested in his past for grand larceny, didn't reveal this to the AEC, was put in charge of a vault containing uranium and then something disappeared from the safe.

Submitting Whole Report

'You are referring to a situation at the Argonne National laboratory' Wilson broke in. 'We are submitting a whole report to the committee this afternoon."

About an ounce of uranium-235 disappeared last February from the Argonne laboratory at Chicago. Commission officials say that most of it has been recovered or accounted for. They insist no espionage was involved.

With reference to the guard, Elston asked:

'But he's still working for the commission?"

"I'm informed that he has been given a job of less responsibility" Wilson replied.

Elston demanded to know why the employe had not been prosecuted for falsification of federal records.

Wilson said the AEC questionnaire asked concerning convictions not arrests, "and we do not yet know whether a federal offense has been committed."

Lilienthal in Hot Denial

On the emergency clearances, the argument between Hickenlooper and Lilienthal largely came down to this:

Hickenlooper contended the commission had violated the law with 'brazen effrontery" by letting so many people have access to secrets without prior FBI checks.

Lilienthal hotly denied this.

The AEC contended that national security was increased because the whole atomic project was speeded up.

Lilienthal said the atomic energy commission could not have produced the number of atomic bombs that the country now has if it had not cleared workers without a full FBI check.

At that Hickenlooper shouted:

I completely disagree with that statement."

Hickenlooper then asked:

Referred to Prior Comment

Do you know how many Communists or members of subversive organizations are now working for the commission or for commission contractors in scientific and technical work?"

Lilienthal said that to his own knowledge he did not know but he added that the commission has provided procedures for investigation and 'responsible men to carry them out 'to prevent that sort of thing happening.'

He observed that Hickenlooper on May 1[illegible] during hearings on the nominations of Henry DeWolf Smyth and Gordon Dean to be AEC members had said that the record of loyalty and character on atomic work has been of unusually higher order.

I agree with you that the record is unusually good Lilienthal said.

What senate investigators found: That the average motorist must pay an extra $10 a year for the same amount of gasoline that he purchased in 1946. Yet oil companies justify higher prices on the grounds that they need the profit.

Regarding this, the Senate investigators state in their so-far confidential report:

Zooming Profits

"The oil companies' profits for 1948 were of such a size as to exert a disproportionate influence on the general level of profits.

"Thus the Standard and Poor's corporation reported that for 1,-48 industrial companies, profits for 1948 were 23.2 per cent above 1947. However, if oil companies are eliminated from the sample, 1948 profits were only 16 per cent above 1947. In other words, so great was the oil industry's increase in 1948 profits that for a [illegible] sample of all industrial corporations the 1948 profits increase [illegible] 50 per cent greater as a result of including the oil companies.

Czech Underground — A powerful underground movement has sprung up in Czechoslovakia that has the Communists worried. At least three well organized guerrilla bands have been attacking Communist officials and police in the vicinity of Bratislava. After each attack they retreat into the hills and can't be located. Five thousand army troops have been assigned to track down the guerrillas, but this hasn't worked out, because many of the soldiers have deserted to join the guerrillas.

Mail Bag

Robert McKinney, owner and publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican, writes as follows:

"Dear Mr. Pearson:

"The shocking death by suicide of Mr. James Forrestal, late secretary of defense, will grieve all who ever knew and served with him. I had the privilege of a tour of duty in a minor capacity on Mr. Forrestal's staff and came to respect him as an American of consummate ability and patriotism.

"His suicide, however, means more than a personal loss to his friends. It must betaken to the nation's heart as glaring proof of the need for fearless news reporting in the nation's capital. When your dispatch came out some weeks ago describing the advanced state of deterioration of Mr. Forrestal's mental health, it came as more of a surprise to me than did the subsequent news that Mr. Forrestal has now taken his life. I happened to be in Washington at the time you broke the story and heard among his friends and many government officials the almost unanimous opinion that the Forrestal story was the last straw — that Drew Pearson should now be shut up for irresponsible reporting.

"Had the officials of the naval medical center been as alert and diligent about their business as you were about yours, perhaps Mr. Forrestal might have eventually recovered and lived a long and useful life. American newspapermen should paste on their walls the headlines of this minor Pearl Harbor at Bethesda to guide them whenever there is pressure to withhold the news."

Sabotaging Public Housing

Inside fact is that courteous Chairman Sabath could have squelched the rules committee filibuster against the public housing bill and railroaded the bill to the House floor if the benign gentleman from Illinois used the same strongarm tactics that his foes use against him.

At one closed door session last week only one of the committee's four Republicans — New York's Jim Wadsworth — showed up. This put filibustering Gene Cox of Georgia, the Dixiecrat, in a frenzy. Because Sabath had the votes to vote the housing bill out over his head with three Republicans absent.

Cox, who almost always votes with the Republicans, immediately began demanding that the committee postpone action until all the members are here to express themselves." Sabath, however, stopped him.

"I could take advantage of the gentlemen who are absent and call for a vote, but I don't intend to. I don't believe in doing business that way. I try to be considerate of my colleagues who are against me as well as those who are with me.

"However, I expect the same treatment myself in the future," he added, looking squarely at the gentleman from Georgia.

Note — Last summer when Cox faced a tough re-election primary, he wrote a newspaper in his district indicating that he favored the housing bill though later he ducked the vote. Today, safely re-elected, he is showing his true color and is actively leading the opposition.

Bill Proposes Part Of Camp For Hospital

Proposal For Care Of Aged Hospital Patients There

JEFFERSON CITY, June 2 (AP) — Part of Camp Crowder would be turned into a hospital for aged state hospital patients under a series of bills introduced in the Missouri Senate Wednesday night.

The bills are sponsored by Gov. Forrest Smith and were offered at the first night session of the year by Senator Edward V. Long (D) of Bowling Green. He is majority floor leader.

Setting up a special state institution to care for old people who need only custodial care was recommended by the governor's special committee of doctors last week. They investigated state hospitals and reported part of the blame for inadequate mental treatment is the great number of "senile custodial care patients" in the mental institutions.

Title to the old camp Crowder property in Newton and McDonald counties is held now by the University of Missouri board of curators. They got it from the War Assets Administration to set up an adult vocational school but nothing has been done on that because no funds have been appropriated.

The administration plan is to transfer title to the state and let the vocational school and the senile hospital share the camp's facilities. The state director of public buildings would help them divide up the big plant and they would share the cost of operating it.

No appropriation was included in the series of bills.

Advance Plan In State

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., June 2 —(AP)— Up to $500 cash bonus for Missouri World War II veterans won tentative House approval on Wednesday.

The vote advancing the proposed constitutional amendment to final voting stage was 111 to 3. It came after nearly four hours of wrangling over 19 amendments.

If passed by both houses the amendment would go on the general election ballot in November 1950. Last fall Missouri veterans voted down a bonus proposal because it would have been financed by an increased state tax on retail sales.

The measure considered today would be financed by a series of taxes including:

1. Two cents on each package of cigarettes and 10 per cent on cigars.
2. Fifteen cents on each barrel of beer brewed or sold in Missouri, 20 cents on each gallon of liquor, ten cents on each gallon of fortified wines and five cents on each gallon of light wines.
3. $5 a year on coin operated machines such as juke boxes and pinball machines and the same on vending machines other than so-called penny machines.
4. Two per cent on net taxable incomes of corporations and the revenue from a four per cent tax on the income of intangible property (bonds, mortgages and other securities).
5. $5 a year on bowling alleys and pool tables.
6. $10 a year on manually operated shuffleboards and $25 a year on coin operated shuffleboards.

Rep. Lawrence K. Roos (R) of St. Louis lost out on an amendment to exempt veterans from paying the extra taxes. He said veterans killed the 1948 proposal because they didn't want to pay for their own bonus.

RICHMOND, Va., June 2 (AP) — Things hummed in the Richmond postoffice Wednesday.

Killed As Truck Rams Another

BOLIVAR, Mo., June 2 (AP) — Lamar W. Mansell, 32, of Springfield was killed instantly late Wednesday when his truck rammed the rear of a parked truck just inside the west city limits of Bolivar on highway 13.

Mansell, alone in the auto, was enroute to Bolivar from Springfield, on a business trip when the accident occurred.

He is employed by the Underwood Typewriter Company, and was formerly branch manager of the firm at St. Joseph, Mo.

He is survived by his wife, Pat. He had resided in Springfield about one year.

The body was taken to the Turpin funeral home here pending removal to Springfield.

Acquit Roark With Admonition

JOPLIN, Mo., June 2 — (AP) Federal Judge Albert A. Ridge Wednesday acquitted J. M. Roark, Anderson, Mo., road contractor, of a two-count indictment charging income tax fraud. The case was tried before the court without a jury.

Judge Ridge held that the government had failed to prove willful intent to defraud the government on the part of Roark in filing of his income tax return for 1942 and 1944. While holding that "there is no doubt" that Roark owes the government additional taxes the court said the government failed to prove the allegations.

The trial, which opened Tuesday, ended unexpectedly after only one defense witness, Roark, was heard. After a conference with attorneys on both sides, defense counsel suddenly rested and the judge entered an acquittal, admonishing Roark hereafter to keep better records.

Loan $70,000 In This Area

Farmers in Pettis, Cooper, Moniteau and Morgan counties have helped in building a farm mortgage loan volume by the cooperative Federal Land bank system of more than four billion dollars, according to H. J. Shirley, secretary-treasurer of the National Farm Loan association of Sedalia. Mr. Shirley adds that this loan volume builds up to a striking record of mortgage service to American agriculture, representing more than a million long term farm mortgage loans to individual farmers for land purchase or mortgage refinance or improvement purposes since 1917.

The land bank system actually is owned by the farmers who get their mortgage credit through the local farm loan associations. Each borrower becomes an association member when his mortgage loan is completed. Contrary to a view sometimes held, the land banks do not lend government money. All lending funds are obtained by the sale of land bank bonds in the nation's big money markets. These bonds are purchased by private investors.

The National Farm Loan association of Sedalia is one of 1,211 of these farm mortgage cooperatives. Located in every agricultural community in the United States, they operate with the aim of providing their members with long term mortgage credit at the lowest cost consistent with sound credit principles. So far in 1949 the local association has made loans amounting to $70,000 for farmers in this vicinity.

Indoor Drama of The Atom May Take Weird Turns

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) The time: The atomic age. The place: A huge room. The play: The first great indoor drama of the atom open to the public.

The scene: Blazing lights, whirring cameras, tense senators and congressmen, newsmen scribbling furiously, hundreds of the curious public neck-craning in the jam-packed room.

The stars: Senator Hickenlooper, Iowa Republican, and David E. Lilienthal, chairman of the atomic energy commission, facing each other stonily across a shining mahogany table.

The plot: Hickenlooper says Lilienthal "mismanaged" the nation's atom program, is unfit to run it. Lilienthal, "damn mad," denounces Hickenlooper for "smearing," says in effect: "Prove what you say."

Prologue: Senator McMahon, Connecticut Democrat and chairman of the congressional committee hearing the case, says there'll be a fair opportunity "to throw a searchlight on the facts."

Pulls Out Cards

Curtain rises on Act I: Tight-lipped Hickenlooper sets out to prove what he's said. Fetches little cards out of his various suit pockets in such orderly fashion that he must have memorized where each card was.

He looks at each card, reads off the name of some official who worked for the AEC and quit or shifted jobs within the AEC, asks Lilienthal if he knew that man, what he thought of him.

Hickenlooper says these many shifts and changes all add up to bad management in the AEC. Lilienthal says it's not easy to get or keep qualified people.

He says "men find it very discouraging to have to spend so much time explaining what they have been doing as they do in getting these things done."

Act 2, 3, 5, 10, 20, 40, etc: No one can predict how many acts there will be, how many days this will go on, or where it will end.

A Wide Look

It's up to Hickenlooper to prove the charges he's made against Lilienthal. The latter has challenged him. This much seems certain:

If Hickenlooper tries to prove bad management by showing mistakes in details, then—

Lilienthal will try to show that he and the other four AEC commissioners can't be accountable for every detail if they're going to keep their eyes on the big target, the whole wide program.

Although Hickenlooper is shooting solely at Lilienthal, and says so, Lilienthal made it clear in yesterday's hearing that Hickenlooper's charge of "incredible mismanagement" must be aimed at all five AEC commissioners, not him alone.

Hickenlooper has started out by trying to narrow down the field in which the investigation can be made. Lilienthal certainly will try to defend himself on a wide front, not a narrow one.

Before it's over, this investigation may take weird turns or fizzle out. But Senator McMahon promises a wide look.

Sedalians in The Mediterranean

Two Sedalia, Mo., men, Roy D. Humes, airman, USN, son of Mrs. J. J. Humes of 1830 East Seventh street and Joseph F. DeLapp, fireman, USN, son of Mrs. S. L. DeLapp of 1708 East Fifth street, arrived in the Mediterranean aboard the aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea for a six months cruise which will afford them the opportunity to visit seaports of Europe and Northern Africa.

First glimpse of the Old World was the Rock of Gibraltar, where they arrived May 11 for a three-day visit prior to transiting the Strait of Gibraltar for Augusta, Sicily. While in this area the aircraft carrier will concentrate on fast Fleet exercises aimed at maintaining the peak of fighting efficiency.

Action Delayed On Wheat Agreement

WASHINGTON, June 2 (AP) The senate Foreign Relations committee Wednesday delayed until today final action on the international wheat agreement.

Chairman Connally (D-Tex) told reporters a quorum was not present and the committee was unable to give final approval to the compact.

He said the committee will meet again tomorrow and probably will report out the agreement. There has been a complete lack of organized opposition.

Many in This Area Receiving Old-Age, Survivors Insurance

Growth of the old age and survivors insurance in the U. S., as just reported to Congress in the 1948 Federal Security Agency annual report, is reflected in this area by data from the local social security office. Scott Webber, manager, stated today that as of June 30, 1948, when data in the Agency report was compiled, there were 1,230 people in the nine counties served by the Sedalia office who were receiving $20,500 monthly in old age and survivor insurance benefits. He said that by the end of April 1949 these figures had increased to an estimated 1,500 people receiving $24,000 monthly, or a general increase of about 16 per cent during the 10 month period.

The Social Security Administration section of the report prepared by Arthur J. Altmeyer, Commissioner of Social Security, showed that in the United States on June 30, 1948, there were 2,163,000 persons receiving monthly benefits amounting to $42,100,000. These federal insurance benefits go to insured retired workers over 65, their wives if over 65 and their dependent children, and to the widows, children and dependent parents of insured wage earners who have died.

Volume Increased

Interim reports which have been prepared show that by April 30, 1949, the number of these insurance beneficiaries had climbed on up to 2,450,000 men, women and children getting benefits at the rate of $49,000,000 per month. As Altmeyer observed in the preface of his report, the social security programs operated during the fiscal year 1948 in a setting of full employment, a record peacetime production of goods and services and rising prices. Earnings [illegible] higher and the aggregate volume of savings increased.

The Social Security Administration's section of the report covering operations of the Children's Bureau and the Bureau of Public Assistance, Employment Security, and Old Age Insurance is being received with special attention this year because of several proposals for changes in these programs now under study in Congress. Under mandate from Congress to submit recommendations for needed revisions in the law, the Administration proposed in the report with respect to old age and survivors insurance that:

(1) Coverage for wage earners be extended to farm people, the self-employed, domestic workers and most other work is now excluded.

(2) The rate of benefits be substantially increased, from the present maximum for a family of $85 up a possible $150. Most beneficiaries present and prospective would have their monthly payments increased 70 per cent or more.

(3) The age of eligibility for women to receive benefits be reduced from 65 to 60.

(4) Beneficiaries be permitted to earn as much as $50 per month in employment without losing eligibility for their monthly payments. The present limit is $14.99 per month.

(5) A workers earning up to $1,800 per year be subject to tax and corresponding credit toward benefits rather than the present limit of $3,000 per annum.

Rulings On System

The Social Security Administration also urged enactment of a system cash benefits for disabled insured workers. This plan integrated with the present old age and survivors insurance would provide monthly benefits on a similar basis when a worker incurred a period of extended disability or was permanently disabled. Legislation embodying such proposals has been the subject of hearings in the House of Representatives during recent months.

The Agency report submitted to the Congress as well as a separately published section on social security alone will be available as public documents, Webber said, that summaries he had received show an array of facts on administration of the social security plan which has been in effect since January 1, 1937.

A total of 76.8 million living wage earners had earned some wage credits under the system by January 1, 1948. The study shows that of these 40.8 million persons were fully insured, including 11.6 million who are both fully and permanently insured. An additional 5.7 million persons have worked long enough to be currently insured for protection of their families.

Benefits being paid here highlight the family protection offered by old age and survivors insurance as emphasized in the report. At this time, Webber said, approximately 40 per cent of the local beneficiaries are children and mothers with children in their [illegible].

Program For LaMonte Club

Looking Backward

Forty Years Ago

Rev. Otto Press, pastor of the German Evangelical church, and Herman Ludemann are in attendance at a church convention in St. Joseph.

R. V. Denny, leader of the Camp Branch band, was given a pleasant surprise Tuesday night, June 1, by members of the band, their families and friends. The occasion was the band leader's birthday anniversary.

E. C. Ott, a former Sedalian, now passenger and ticket agent for the Santa Fe railroad at Kansas City, recently found a handbag containing money in the Kansas City union station and learning of the owner, a Philadelphia woman, returned it to her. For so doing he received a money order and a diamond, the money order to pay for having it mounted.

Fifty thousand Home Coming buttons have been ordered for distribution in connection with the Missouri State fair and the home coming celebration to be held the week of the fair in October.

Contractors at Higginsville, Mo., have placed an order for 300,000 building brick with the Mecunker brick plant here.

C. P. Evans and Arthur Bender of La Monte sold their stock of furniture and undertaking supplies to B. J. Parker, who will take charge of the business within the next few weeks.

C. F. Rock, travelling salesman for the Sedalia Candy company, and a resident of Clinton for thirty years, removed to Sedalia with his family Wednesday to reside at 1023 South Lamine avenue.

Shields R. Smith, local manager for the Bell Telephone company, made a trip to Hughesville on company business.

Eisler Case Brings Out Treasures of The West

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—Communist Gerhart Eisler is a living memorial to one of the most priceless treasures of the west: The rights of an individual in a democratic society, even when he'd like to destroy that society.

Twice convicted in the United States, but free on bail, pending appeal, he fled the U. S., was seized in England, was brought before an English Judge, was freed on a legal technicality, and is now safe in Communist Eastern Europe.

His case was judged entirely on legal grounds—on what his rights were under the law—and not on political grounds, although a congressional committee had called him America's No. 1 Communist and he had a notorious history of intrigue.

Consider the Reverse

Suppose the situation had been reversed and Communist Eisler was in Russia, was considered the No. 1 foe of the Soviet regime, had committed a crime, fled, and was caught in another Communist country behind the iron curtain.

There isn't much doubt he would have been whisked back to Russia, probably without a court hearing at all, and for a reason that illustrates perfectly the difference in the attitude of the east and west toward an individual.

Under Communism, an individual exists for the state, not the state for the individual. It's just the other way around in a democracy like America's or England's.

Different in the West

In Russsia when government policy—which means the desires of the ruling group—conflicts with what a particular law calls the "rights" of an individual, the government policy must come first.

Under Communism a man looked upon as an enemy of the ruling group, which wants to stay in power, gets short consideration. It's different in the west.

There every individual has certain guaranteed rights and he can appeal to the courts for the protection of those rights in they're interfered with.

In this country Eisler was convicted of contempt of congress and for falsifying a passport. He was sentenced to prison but got out on bail while he appealed to a higher court. Then he skipped to England

Agreement Signed in 1870

In 1870 England and this country signed an agreement to return to one another a person who had been convicted of perjury in either country.

But the English judge decided that Eisler's falsification of a document here couldn't be considered perjury under the meaning of the treaty, because it didn't cover falsification of documents. So he refused to send Eisler back here.

Knowing perfectly well that Eisler once let loose again would be free to continue to try to destroy western democratic government, the judge considered first and only what his rights were under the law, as an individual.

The irony of the whole case, of course, is this:

Eisler won his freedom under the laws of the western democracies which he despises and would destroy and—

If they were destroyed, and replaced by Communism, an Eisler who was an enemy of that new regime and committed a crime here and fled to England, would be bounced back here in a hurry.

Oppose New Support Plan

ST. LOUIS, June 2—(AP)— The nation's wholesale grocers Wednesday adopted a resolution vigorously opposing the new farm support program of Secretary of Agriculture Charles A. Brannan.

The resolution, approved at the exposition of the U. S. Wholesale Grocers Association, criticized any peacetime plan "for gearing national production, distribution and consumption to government blueprints involving farm and other subsidies."

Brannan has asked that marketing quotas, now applicable only to major crops, be extended to the bulk of farm products.

The wholesalers also voiced opposition to any peacetime "standby or discretionary controls over prices, wages, consumer rationing, industrial priorities, allocation of materials and inventory controls."

Charles S. Raglund of Nashville, Tenn., was elected president of the association, succeeding W. A. Livingston of Orangeburg, S. C., who was named a lifetime member of the organization's board of directors.

Petitions A Divorce

A divorce petition was filed in circuit court Wednesday by Erma Schumaker against Virgil Schumaker. The petition alleges general indignities.

The couple was married June 9, 1943 in Sedalia and separated March 8, 1949. One child was born to this marriage. Attorney for the plaintiff is W. F. Brown.

Hal Boyle Says

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(AP)—The human race soon will be able to spend all its time playing gin rummy.

At present people still waste a lot of energy beating a living out of the world and fretting over other foolish problems.

Good old science is changing all that. Almost every day now it comes up with a new gadget to solve a worry that has plagued mankind since the Lord gave Adam a ribbing.

Take the problem of putting the baby to sleep at night. Now that should be a simple thing. But it has bothered every family since caveman days, and that is going back 40,000 years. And it always ended up with papa or mama having to tramp back and forth with the yowling infant crooning it a lullaby.

Automatic Rocker

Well, after these 400 centuries, a fellow came along and invented an automatic rocker. It not only rocks Junior. It sings to him, too—in his mother's voice. And that leaves his fond parents free to stay in the living room and earn a living at gin rummy off the neighbors.

But the mechanical baby rocker, the automatic dish washer, the refrigerator and deep freeze unit, the vacuum cleaner, the television set that brings vaudeville into your parlor—these are as nothing to science's new wonder, the "electric brain."

Here is a real thingamajig. And if you expect to keep up with the Joneses in the future, you're going to have to have one handy around the house. And you might as well start saving up for the down payment now, as a pilot model presently in production will cost about $200,000.

Named "Zephyr"

This "electric brain" is named "Zephyr," and he's going to be some boy. He's being built by Dr. Harry Huskey for the U. S. Bureau of Standards at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Zephyr will take up where Einstein left off. He will be able to translate three foreign languages, or perform 16,000 additions and 4,000 multiplications a second. With this faithful big-brain standing in the corner, no school child need ever again dread homework.

It is also promised that this electrical wizard will be able to compute salary payments — not that this bit of arithmetic has ever been any strain on the average man's intellect. But Zephyr in addition can predict the weather, even in California, and replace minor executives.

Takes Place of Straw Bosses

This last function is indeed a happy one as it promises to rid the world of a highly troublesome class — the straw bosses. These strange people—you find them in every office staring at a "think" motto on their desks — like to boast they work like machines. It will be restful to see them replaced by machines that work like people. And, of course, it was inevitable that in the march of progress somebody would invent a machine that could collect flyspecks as well as do minor executives, who make a career out of this art that should be no more than a hobby.

But Zephyr's real place will be in the home. With his mathematical ability he'll be able to balance your wife's bank book without stripping a gear. And he'll easily figure a way to cut your income tax in half, the true test of genius in our times.

Zephyr is only slightly larger than a kitchen cabinet, and presumably he'll come in either a walnut or mahogany veneer. At a platry $200,000 what home can afford to be without him?

Protectors of Wildlife Were Club Speakers

Explain Rules For Fishing And Hunting to Kiwanians

Pond regulations for fishing, and cover restoration for wildlife were subjects of talks by William H. Struesse, wildlife conservation agent, Boonville, Mo., and Otis Thorburn, field service agent, Missouri Conservation Commission, before the Sedalia Kiwanis club meeting in Bothwell hotel Thursday noon.

Job Harned, program chairman, presented the speakers.

Mr. Struesse called attention to the regulations which now allow twelve months fishing of private ponds and lakes, urging fishermen select the better ponds and fish them heavily. He pointed out that ponds that are not fished properly tend to become overpopulated and finally dominated by one or two species of fish, such as bluegills and crappie.

Pictures Shown

Colored slide pictures of multiflora rose plants used for farm fences instead of old-type hedge plantings were shown and explained by Mr. Thorburn. They not only provide cover protection for wildlife, but serve a utility and beautifying purpose on the farms.

Kiwanians at the meeting here from California and Boonville for the inter-club golf tournament today were: California, H. R. Treiber, Clark Craghead, E. R. Cole, and the Rev. Louis W. Drake; from Boonville, H. C. Neef and the Rev. J. R. Gregg. The latter brought along and presented to the Sedalia club the Kiwanis traveling gavel, which the local club must pass on to another Kiwanis club.

Kiwanian R. D. Keeler, Leavenworth, Kas., was a guest.

The R.E.A. co-op linemen and superintendent held a special safety meeting at 8:00 o'clock morning at the co-op office, 120 West Fifth street.

Leland LaVelle, local manager of the co-op, opened the meeting and introduced E. W. Deppe, Safety Engineer of the American Motorist Insurance company of Chicago, who presented the Rural Electrification Safety award to George W. Ray, line superintendent of three counties, Pettis, Benton and Saline. Mr. Deppe commended Mr. Ray for maintaining an excellent safety program. He also said the award is especially significant this year, considering all the bad weather in this area.

After the presentation of the award the meeting was turned over to A. B. Blacklock of St. Louis, safety instructor, supervised by the R.E.A. safety and job training program, Mr. Blacklock, whose safety work covers the entire northern half of the state, told the men of the serious accidents that have occurred in recent years, and emphasized the importance of maintaining a top rate safety program.

Tom Yount, local insurance agent, gave a brief talk to the men present. He also stressed the importance of a well organized safety program.

After the business meeting, the linemen were entertained with pictures shown with a slide projector by Mr. Blacklock.

Mr. LeVelle, before leaving for Washington to attend a conference of Missouri R. E. A. co-op managers stated, the co-op was now maintaining 1,052 miles of lines, serving 2,759 farms, and later this month the co-op will add an additional 270 miles of line that will serve 475 more farms. Mr. LaVelle also said within the next fifteen days work will start on another additional 307 miles to serve 644 farms.

G-Man Ordered Into Custody

CHICAGO, June 2.—(AP)—Chicago's top G-man was ordered placed in the custody of the U. S. attorney general today for refusing to surrender his records on Roger (the terrible) Touhy, prohibition era gangster.

Judge John P. Barnes of the federal court imposed this punishment on George R. McSwain, chief of the Chicago FBI office, after holding him in contempt of court.

The court directed that McSwain is to remain in the custody of Attorney General Tom Clark until he produces FBI records as ordered by Judge Barnes. He is scheduled to be taken into custody at 2 p. m.

Judge Barnes set the penalty after a brief hearing at which Touhy's attorney, Robert B. Johnstone, argued that McSwain's refusal to yield the records constituted disobedience to the lawful order of the court.

Otto Kerner, Jr., United States district attorney, told the court he could not deviate from the position he outlined yesterday in a conference in chambers. He did not say what was discussed in chambers, but McSwain had told the court he was acting on orders from his superiors in refusing to hand over the records.

Family Helps Father Picket

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—(AP)—A man without a job gave his family a job today—helping him on a picket line.

The wife and four children of Alfred Hansson walked back and forth with him in front of a cable concern, which last Friday fired the machine operator from his $59-a-week job.

Hansson carried a sign pleadin, for "one more chance." The children, two boys and two girls, hoisted signs reading:

"Please give daddy his job back for my sake . . . I need clothes to go back to school . . . I needed medical care, couldn't get stitches put on my head . . . I went to school with holes in my shoes."

The children were Carol, 4½ years old; Mary, 7; Albert, 8; and Alfred, Jr., 10.

Mrs. Hansson, parading on the flank, carried no sign. Her husband said he was fired after "a small argument" with a foreman and two other employes.

Fire Department Called

The fire companies were called to the residence of Mrs. J. B. Baldwin, 1114 East Twelfth street, this afternoon at 12:17 o'clock, where an oil stove overflowed.

No damage occurred. This was the 113th fire alarm answered by the fire companies this year.

Divorce Petition Filed

A divorce petition was filed in circuit court Wednesday by Ella Eugenia Ray against Dilward R. Ray, alleging general indignities.

The petition asserts that the couple was married, July 10, 1943, and separated August 10, 1948.

Palmer and Palmer are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

Tornadoes, Rain Over Wide Area

damage to electric lines and communications. The new 161,000 volt line from Kansas City to Davenport, Ia., was out of commission north and south of Maryville. There were reports that it was out in the Clarinda, Ia., area.

Ten poles on the power line east of Burlington Junction snapped last night.

At Pattonsburg, Mo., the Grand river rose two feet during a half hour period this morning, reaching a stage of 15.9. Rainfall there measured 3.55 inches. Farmers were reported uneasy in that area as the river rose and reports were received of torrential rains in the upper reaches of the stream.

Farther east, Macon had 1.08 inches this morning. The downpour, coming during an hour and half period, clogged gutters. A high wind accompanied a fall earlier in the morning, but no damage was reported.

Area Laid Flat

FAIRFAX, Mo., June 2—(AP)—An area three miles long and a mile and a half wide was laid flat by a tornado which struck last night.

All buildings in the farm community were wrecked, but only one person was reported injured. The victim was Mrs. Henry Viels, Sr., near 70, who lay for two hours with a broken leg in the debris of her home. She was taken to a hospital at Shenandoah, Ia.

Several narrow escapes were reported.

When Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wennihan saw the storm coming, they pyramided themselves over their two small children on the floor. They escaped with minor injuries although the twister sucked the house and the floor from the foundation.

M. R. Chambers and his daughter, Coleen, also took refuge on the floor of their home, and escaped injury although the house was destroyed.

Completely wrecked was the home of Blon Schooler, where a dresser was split in two. One half was found in one room of the wrecked dwelling, and the other in another room.

Expects Federal Sum For Slum Clearances

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—(AP)—Mayor Joseph M. Darst estimates that St. Louis will receive up to $40,000,000 from the federal government for slum clearance if a pending house bill is passed by congress.

Darst based his figure on an announcement that the state has a whole may get as much as 1,500,000,000 under the proposed national housing program.

St. Louis repeatedly has tried to gain enactment of a state law which would permit it to engage in a broad federal aid public housing project.

Hero's Welcome For Communist Eisler

BERLIN, June 2.—(AP)—Communist fugitive Gerhart Eisler received a hero's welcome today in Soviet-occupied Leipzig, the Russian-licensed news agency ADN said.

Against Loan to Spain

WASHINGTON, June 2.—(AP)—President Truman came out today against making a government loan to Spain.

He told a news conference he does not favor it, but did not elaborate.

"Open House" Exhibit

ST. LOUIS, June 2.—(AP)—Residents of St. Louis are shooting craps openly today—and under the noses of policemen, to boot.

It's okay, though, as no money is involved and the activities are merely to show the public the latest in gambling devices seized in recent raids. The police department is holding an "open house" exhibit.

Jury Returns $900 Verdict

A 12-man jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for the sum of $900 in circuit court this morning, following a damage suit hearing which was filed by Rolla A. Ream against Chester A. Foster.

The suit originally was for $1,200, which was the damage plaintiff asked as a result of having his automobile demolished, when the defendant's truck collided with the car on September 2, 1948.

The jury was composed of P. S. Warren, John R. Higgins, J. M. Sneed, Ralph Mosby, Elmer Cordes, E. H. Arnett, Clarence Schlesselman, P. C. Reed, J. S. Dyer, F. L. Schenk, W. H. Page and Con Mayer.

Lawrence Barnett was the plaintiff's attorney, and George W. Anson represented the defendant.

More Talk of Church Merger

MONTREAT, N. C., June 2.—(AP)—The argument in the Southern Presbyterian church over reunion with the northern church is expected to blossom again in local areas during the coming year.

The southern group, known as the Presbyterian church in the U.S., ended its 89th general assembly here yesterday after agreeing to increase cooperation with the northern church.

The decision to cooperate with the Presbyterian church in the U.S.A. (Northern), apparently paved the way for re-agitation of the whole re-union question. The controversial issue had been hanging quietly since last year's general assembly placed a five-year moratorium on re-union plans.

At least half a dozen commissioners (delegates) said yesterday's action negated the moratorium. As a result, they added privately, they now feel that they are free to campaign against reunion openly in their presbyteries.

The assembly during its final day "accepted" a report contending that good Christians should protect the basic rights of all men, white and Negro.

Damage Suit Filed

A $7,800 damage suit was filed by Hollie E. Swope against Norman Gibson in circuit court today.

The plaintiff contends that she received injuries following an automobile collision at Main street and Ohio avenue, April 26, 1949.

The petition asserts that the plaintiff was driving a 1930 Plymouth west on Main street, and was hit by the defendant's vehicle as he was backing from a parked position on the north side of Main street.

Fred F. Wesner is the attorney for the plaintiff.

Athletics Drub Jeff City In 11 to 1 Win

Roger Englert Has A Good Night As He Allows Five Hits

Roger Englert, star pitcher of the University of Missouri, now pitching for the Sedalia Athletics, held the Jefferson City Redbirds to five hits for a 11 to 1 victory Wednesday night at Liberty park.

The Athletics walloped 14 hits off three Redbirds pitchers. They secured two of them in the fourth when they made six runs.

In that big inning 10 men batted. Englert led off with a single, Smith singled, May sacrificed. Joe Wolf tripled cleaning the bases. Prost, who had relieved Stuckenschnider, in the fourth, was then faced with Beismeyer who had homered in the third with one man on base. His drive cleared the score board in left center about 325 feet from home plate. Beismeyer waited Prost out and then singled scoring Wolf. Evans walked, Jim Taylor doubled scoring Wolf and Evans. George Thompson reached first on a fielders choice. Verselus, the third pitcher to come to the mound for the Redbirds was greeted on his first pitch to Sullivan by a single, this scored Taylor. Englert, the tenth batter grounded out short to second.

Saved A Shutout

Jefferson City's lone run, that knocked Englert out of a shutout came in their half of the ninth. A wind blown pop fly got away from Wolf and Maxey the left fielder for the Redbirds reached first. Sweeney grounded out second to first, Maxey going to second. R. Alberts, the short-stop, lined a double to right center that scored Maxey. Englert then sent the last two batters to the bench by strikeouts.

Sullivan was the leading hitter. In his first appearance in catching the entire game, he pounded out three hits, a single, double and triple, out of five times at bat. George Thompson, was second in the "hit" parade with two out of four.

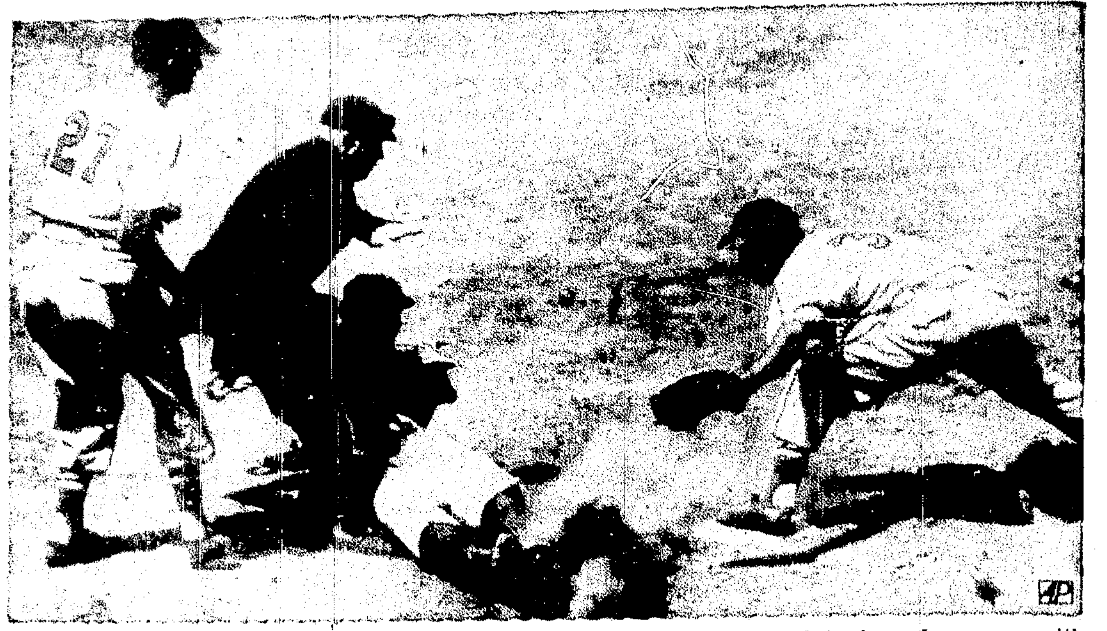
Robinson Scores Third Dodger Run



Dodger second baseman Jackie Robinson slides home safely in the third inning of a game with St. Louis at New York, scoring the third Brooklyn run. Robinson raced to third base when Gil Hodges singled to center and Chuck Diering's throw in got away from Cardinal first baseman Nippy Jones, rolling to the backstop. St. Louis catcher Del Rice retrieved the ball and tossed to third baseman Eddie Kazak as Robinson broke for home. Robinson beat Kazak's throw to Jones (3), who covered home plate. Robinson knocked down umpire Scotty Robb as he slid in. Backing up the play is Cardinal pitcher Alpha Brazle. (27). (AP WIREPHOTO)

Musial Paced Cardinals 6-3 Over Dodgers

The Redbirds Remain Two And One-half Games Off the Pace

By the Associated Press

Stan Musial has his slumps along with the rest of them, but they never last long. The prize outfielder of the St. Louis Cardinals, whose batting average this season has looked like that of an ordinary ball player, is beginning to swat the ball again.

He paced the Redbirds to a 6-3 victory over the red hot Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday with two home runs and a single. It was the third straight triumph for the Cards and their eighth in nine starts.

Musial's Second Homer

Musial's second homer into the left center seats at Ebbets field, 350 feet from the plate, tied the count at 3-3 at the opening of the ninth. Three straight passes, an outfield fly and a ringing double by catcher Bill Baker provided the margin of victory.

Durable Ted Wilks, the relief artist who was supposed to have been sidelined for ten days when he was struck by a line drive last Monday, was hustled into the game and put down a ninth-inning uprising by the Dodgers. Jim Hearn, the second Card hurler, was the winner.

Slaughter Was Out of Action

Team captain Enos Slaughter was out of action with a sore back.

Since the league leading Boston Braves also won, the Cardinals remained two and one-half games off the pace.

In St. Louis, the Browns suffered their seventh straight loss, this time to Washington by a score of 6-5. The last-place Browns, with only 10 victories to show for 41 contests, lost a chance to tie the score in the ninth when Bob Dillinger was thrown out at the plate.

Two Homers For Senators

Eddie Yost and Sam Dente helped the Senator cause with their first home runs of the season and Stan Spence had one for the Browns.

Pitcher Red Embree looked good for the first four innings but folded in the fifth, when Washington scored five times and was charged with his seventh defeat. He has one victory. Mickey Haefner was the winner.

Manager Zack Taylor reported yesterday that Brown players are jittery over unfounded trade rumors. Both Taylor and Charley DeWitt, vice president of the club, insisted the Browns have no deals pending.

DeWitt added that Taylor was assured of continuing as manager for the remainder of the season. The manager said that as long as Johnny Sullivan plays well, he'll be kept at shortstop. Eddie Pellagrini, whose errors have cost the Browns a couple of games recently, has been benched.

Canadian Ace Representatives Calling on Sedalia Trade

Myron M. Newman, vice president and general sales manager of the Canadian Ace Brewing Co. of Chicago, and his sales staff composed of Robert Clark, Leonard Kaplan, Gordon Shaw, John Towers and Larry King — the Canadian Ace songbird — are working through their local distributor, the McMullin & Whitaker Distributing company of Sedalia and calling on all retail beer outlets in the Sedalia area for greater distribution of their products, Canadian Ace Beer and Ale.

These products are produced by the largest brewing company in Chicago and this is the first time an intensive distribution campaign has been put on by them in the Sedalia market.

• Sport Roundup

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, June 2—(AP)—Word reaching here by carrier pigeon from Cleveland is that a lot of guys who ought to know better are fanning the flames under Lou Boudreau. . . . Our informant says he has listened to such remarks as: "Lou never was a good manager; he can't handle men." And "Boudreau no longer is the greatest shortstop in baseball." . . . From this distance it appears that Lou was a fair country manager last year, when all his players were in shape and going great guns and you can hardly blame him if Bob Feller comes up with a sore arm and a couple of guys named Boudreau and Joe Gordon go into hitting slumps. . . . A good sideshow for the Pirates-Washington exhibition at Cooperstown, N. Y., June 13 might be to have Bill Dinneen pitch a few to Honus Wagner. They're both in the Hall of Fame and in the 1903 World Series Wagner got only four hits off him.

Letter Perfect

When Marty Crandell, Syracuse U. heavyweight, was to meet Joe Schaeffer of San Jose State in the National Collegiate boxing final last spring, a delegation from Louisiana State tried to bust into his dressing room to give him a pep talk. . . . Seems that if Schaeffer won the heavyweight bout, San Jose also would win the team title from LSU. . . . Coach Roy Simmons nixed the idea, but Crandell won without the benefit of words. . . . And the other day the LSU lettermen's club voted Marty a monogram sweater and a life membership in the club for his services to the southern university.

Utter-back Confusion

Tom Utterback, No. 1 sponsor of the recent PGA tournament in Richmond, visited the press room one day and presented souvenir money clips to the writers. The next day Tom absent mindedly started to hand them out again to the same guys. . . . Said one hopeful scribe: "Maybe he'll come back tomorrow with $100 bills to go in the clips."

Wednesday's Roundup of Major Leagues

By Jack Hand
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Who's the No. 1 righthander of the American league, now that Bobby Feller has started to slip?

Vic Raschi, strong-armed New York Yankee ace, and Virgil Trucks, Detroit speedster, look like the leading candidates.

Feller isn't finished. He showed enough last night in losing a 3-1 decision to Boston to prove that. But even Bobby admits he's not as good as he used to be.

Raschi put in a solid claim with his three-hit shutout of the Chicago White Sox last night, 3-0. It was his seventh victory to one loss. Trucks survived a shaky start to subdue the Philadelphia A's in 10 innings, 5-4, for his seventh win. He has been beaten twice.

Tommy Henrich's tenth homer broke up a 0-0 duel between Raschi and Howie Judson in the seventh. That came just after Raschi wiggled out of a tough hole when the Sox loaded the bases in the sixth.

Started Out Bad

Trucks started out like the worst pitcher in the league, walking the first three Athletics. Then he hit Hank Majeski to force in a run. Taft Wright's two-run single gave Coleman a three-run working margin but he couldn't hold it.

The game wound up in a hectic tenth inning after the teams had managed to score up a 4-4 tie. George Kell led off with a single after Coleman, angered by an umpire's decision and bench jockeying, strode off the mound toward Coach Dick Bartell.

Kell moved to second on an infield out and scored the winning run on Hoot Evers' single. After the shaky start Trucks settled down and struck out 10 in the extra inning thriller.

Feller, making his first start in two weeks, gave up two runs in the second inning on two infield bounders, a walk and an error. Each side scored once later but that was the ball game. In suffering his fourth loss to one win, Feller allowed eight hits, walking four and striking out three.

Browns 7th Straight Setback

Washington handed the St. Louis Browns their seventh straight setback, 6-5, with the help of the first homers of the season by Eddie Yost and Sam Dente.

In the National league the Braves outscrambled Pittsburgh, 8-6, to move a full game ahead of Brooklyn and New York, tied for second. The Dodgers bowed to St. Louis in the afternoon, 6-3, while the Giants were trimming the Chicago Cubs, 11-5 on a seven-run seventh.

Stan Musial cracked two homers as the Cards came from behind to top Brooklyn. Musial's second homer started a four-run rally in the ninth.

Willard Marshall's 400-foot homer and Sid Gordon's triple helped the Giants come from behind to defeat Emil Kush. Sam Webb pitched brilliant relief ball, allowing only two hits in seven and one-third innings, to receive credit for his first victory.

The Phillies scored twice in the tenth to down Cincinnati, 4-3. An error by Red Stallcup allowed the tying run to score in the extra inning. Andy Seminick's fly scored Gran Hamner with the winner.

Sedalia Blues Edged Out by Mendon 5-4

Local Team Faced Former Major League Hurler Last Night

The Sedalia Blues lost a close 5-4 score to Mendon Wednesday night at Mendon before a crowd of 550 paid admissions.

The Blues faced Vernon Kennedy, former hurler for the Detroit Tigers and Chicago White Sox, who was on the pitcher's plate for Mendon. He allowed seven hits, one walk and struck out 19 batters.

Mendon drew the first runs in the third inning on two walks, a hit and an error. The Blues then bounced back in the fourth inning to tie the score on a single by Slocum, a double by Barr, and a single by Alpert.

Mendon went ahead in the fifth, scoring two runs on a double and two singles. The Blues tied the score in the eighth with singles by Wall and Slocum and a base hit by Livengood to score a run. The score was even when Livengood scored on an infield hit by Thompson.

Kennedy in the last half of the eighth won the ball game by singling to centerfield which knocked another run in.

Turchek started for Sedalia on the mound and allowed seven hits and three runs and struck out five. Barnes came in the sixth inning, and allowed three hits and two runs.

Slocum was the leading hitter for Sedalia with two singles. Kennedy topped Mendon with receiving two for four.

Kennedy left by plane this morning to join the Milwaukee Millers of the American Association.

A return game with Mendon is scheduled for July 24.

Iola Leads K-O-M League

By The Associated Press

Today's is Iola's day on top in the tumultuous K-O-M race.

Iola treated a home crowd to a 3-1 victory over Miami last night to pass Carthage in the league standings.

Carthage, on top for a day, fell to second with an 11-0 shutout administered at Pittsburg. Only one Carthage player reached second and in only two innings did Waltman face as many as four batters.

Paul Hoffmeister held Pittsburg hitless until the fifth, then collapsed under a rally which brought in nine runs.

Sliding Ponca City, in first place a week ago, lost its seventh straight, bowing to Chanute 5-2, and dropped to sixth place.

Two Pitchers Battle For Lead

By The Associated Press

Ed Lubanski and Jim Morris are chilking up two of the best pitching records in the Western Association race this year as Muskogee and St. Joseph battle for the loop lead.

Muskogee retained its game and one-half lead in first place as both teams won last night.

The Reds won at Topeka 5-2 with Lubanski on the mound, and St. Joseph won at home over Hutchinson 7-3 with Morris hurling.

The victory for Lubanski was number eight against one loss. Morris had won six and lost one.

Al Smith, St. Joseph first baseman, was the star in the Cardinal attack. He hit safely in two of three trips to the plate, scored three times and drove in two runs.

George New pitched Salina to a 10-3 decision over Leavenworth with a six-hit job and Fort Smith won at Joplin 6-3.

Game For Chiefs Is Called Off

Certified Oilers, a Ban Johnson team of Kansas City, and a member of the same league as the Milgrams that played Sedalia's Ban Johnson team, the Chiefs, Memorial day in a night game, will not play at Liberty Park tonight in a game against the local Ban Johnson club.

The Chiefs who will miss from their roster, Joe Imhauser, Larry Vilmer, Carl Barbour and Ralph Fall, who are attending a Browns' tryout camp in St. Louis Thursday and Friday, have cancelled the game and will try to arrange the game to be played at a later date.

The Chiefs have been progressing up the ladder of the Central Missouri B-J League and have a 4-2 standing as they start on their trek around the circuit. Sunday they will meet Mexico on their diamond. They defeated Mexico early this season.

John Thomas, father of Bud Thomas who was a star Legion player of 1945 and '46 seasons, will take the above mentioned boys, to the Browns' tryout camp. Manager Thomas, who now manages the Sedalia Junior Legion, has worked with James Schumaker, property of the Browns, now at Pine Bluff, Ark., Gary Tuggle, property of the St. Louis Cardinals, now in the Illinois State League, and his son, Bud Thomas, who is with the Browns' organization at Marshall, Texas. James (Salty) Schumaker, Gary Tuggle, have both seen action under the contracts of Ban Johnson baseball, "Salty" playing with Slater and the Chiefs, while Gary played with Slater.

Indianapolis Indians Defeated Milwaukee

By the Associated Press

St. Paul is back on top in the American Association baseball scramble today with a bit of help from the Indianapolis Indians who snapped Milwaukee's six-game win streak last night. The Brewers are in second place, one-half game behind the Saints.

Indianapolis stopped Milwaukee 5 to 1 in the second game of a doubleheader after the Brewers had taken the seven-inning opener, 8 to 3. The split enabled St. Paul to sneak in front of the pack as the Saints toppled last place Louisville 4 to 1. In other games Kansas City stopped Toledo 8 to 5 and Columbus sank Minneapolis 9 to 7 in a game held up for nearly two hours by rain.

St. Paul's Karl Morrison allowed Louisville only four hits. The Colonels' only run was a fifth inning home run by Jim Jones. Dan Ozark and Hank Schenz clouted homers for the Saints.

Kansas City pushed across six runs in the fifth inning to trounce Toledo and break a four-game losing streak. Duane Sloat, former Chicago Cubs pitcher, was charged with the loss. The Blues pounded out four doubles in their big fifth inning splurge.

Ice Cool Costumes

Non-crushable linen, tailored for summer comfort, makes the two-piece, two-tone dress (below); also the camisole-top dress with jacket (right). Dotted stole may double as sash.

By Epsie Kinard
NEA Fashion Editor

NEW YORK — Fashion's cool reply to wilting weather is the linen costume that looks as cool as an ice cube, is as crisp as a cracker.

What gives linen its immunity to heat and humidity and the wrinkling processes of warm-weather wear are non-rushable finishes.

Styling linen outfits for summer's versatile needs is a specialty of one outstanding designer. Eisenberg, for example, tops a camisole-top dress of cinnamon colored linen with an impeccably-tailored jacket which can be peeled off for summer comfort. here are two tabs at the hipline of the jacket for anchoring a silk sash of brown and white coin dots. The hip-swathing sash may be removed and worn as a stole or a scarf.

The suit that shrugs off the heat by dispensing with a blouse is another style success sponsored by Eisenberg. He combines a jacket of champagne-colored linen with a skirt of taupe linen to make a two-piece dress which masquerades as a suit. Posed over the straight, slim skirt is a dressmaker-styled jacket with a peplum tricked up with squared off tucks. Designed with an eye to summer comfort is this jacket's key-hole neckline which opens up to form a deep square.

Birthday Cakes as Popular Years Ago as They Are Today

"When we were growing up," said a Sedalia woman recently, "A birthday cake was an event. That was our day and we always ate in the dining room, using the best dishes and had a birthday cake."

Things haven't changed a bit since she was a little girl. Little boys and girls of today make a big event of their day, too, and look forward not only to their own birthdays, but of the birthdays of all of their family.

"I want a stop-light cake," said one little boy to his mother.

The mother was a little taken back. She had never heard of a stop light cake, but she agreed that she'd be glad to bake one if she knew what it was like.

The boy then explained it was a three-layer cake made like a stop light. One layer red, one yellow and one green.

Mother was very happy to make the cake to order, but evidently she didn't watch the stop lights as closely as the boy. When he saw the cake he was so disappointed.

Mixed Her Colors

"That just isn't right," he told his mother.

"Why?" she asked. "What is wrong with it?"

"That isn't the way the stop light is," he explained. "You got the colors mixed. The red light is on top and that is where the red layer should be. It should be red, yellow and green, with the green on the bottom."

And the next time mother saw a stop-light she saw that the red light was on top.

And there was the little girl who wanted bacon for her birthday. Her aunt, who always asks what they would like to have for their birthday and buys it, if it is within reason, was startled when her little niece wanted two pounds of bacon.

She took the little girl to the store with her and when she asked for one pound of bacon the little girl informed her that she had asked for two pounds—and so two pounds it was.

They went to the aunt's home, where she sliced the bacon and fried it for the little girl—one slice after another until she had eaten ten slices. At last full of bacon the youngster carefully wrapped up the remaining bacon and took it home with her.

Always Has a Party

Another mother of a small boy finds herself hostess at a birthday party nearly every year. Having the feeling that a party is probably in the making she usually finds out that young guests are being invited just in time to get the cake baked and the refreshments ready.

No, things haven't changed much in the past generation, the generation before that and many generations back when it comes to children and their birthdays. Everybody has fond memories of those birthday cakes of childhood and the blowing out the candles. Those very same things are bringing thrills to the children of today.

Van Natta 4-H Club Projects

The Van Natta Multi-workers 4-H club have held a number of meeting recently in preparation for Rural Life Sunday. At a regular meeting held April 15, at the school house, they decided on their portion of the program. Roll call answered with "a new bird I've seen this spring." Discussions were held on the dairy project and Charles Long was appointed junior leader. Following business meeting games were played, songs were sung and a wiener roast was held.

The regular May meeting was held at the home of Bonnie Gorrell on May 13, with eight members answering roll call with "Something I'd Like to Do This Summer." After practicing a song to be sung Rural Life Sunday, Wayne Stork addressed the group. He spoke on the program and dinner he attended May 11 given by the business firms in Sedalia at the First Methodist church.

Two practice meetings were held the next week at the homes of Dwayne and Langdon Stark, and Anna and Mac Harding.

Sunday, May 22, the entire group went to LaMonte and practiced in the Rural Life 4-H Sunday program, presented by clubs from LaMonte, Pleasant Green and Van Natta. The program was held at the Methodist church.

The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Ann and Mac Harding on Friday, June 24.

Rayon Towels 'Something New' For Beach

Cotton Terry Boasts Styling Innovations

New rayon and cotton beach towel makes a generous and super-absorbent wraparound for the swimmer (left). Textured beach mat on which the girl (right) perches is crocheted from a new crimped rayon staple yarn which is thick, soft and quick-drying.

Rayon beach towels and mats will be the "something new under the sun" which will compete for attention this summer with cotton terry accessories.

Rayon mixes with cotton to weave a new toweling material which, manufacturers claim, is more absorbent than some all-cotton weaves. These new towels owe their claim to quicker thirst quenching to the affinity of viscose rayon fibers for water.

Amply-sized to give generous coverage, the towels are color-fast and the rayon content adds luster to the surfaces. Matching hand towels and washcloths forecast an indoor life for these newcomers after the swimming season is over.

Thanks to the development of an all-rayon yarn, lustrous new beach mats which are soft and absorbent and boast unusual strength will spread their charms over the sands. The yarn of crimped rayon staple is as thick as a telephone cord and is easily knitted or crocheted by amateur needlewomen into mats, rugs and so on.

Because the fiber is permanently crinkled, rugs won't lose their resilient softness no matter how wet they become nor how often they are washed. The naturally white fiber is vat-dyed in a variety of brilliant colors.

Not to be outdone in brilliance or feats of absorbency are all-cotton terry cloth bath sheets and beach shawls and stoles. The so-called bath sheet which doubles as an exercise pad or beach towel is nine square feet of thick terry nap. Colors are white or deep-toned to appeal to masculine users.

Rainbow-striped or polka-dotted terry cloth stoles nearly six feet long are intended to add a fashionable fillip to beach towels. Besides offering protection from the sun to beach combers the extra-thick weave of such accessories is designed to blot a swimmer dry in a jiffy.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

COPYRIGHT BY HUGH LAWRENCE NELSON DISTRIBUTED BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: Bea Cosgrove, who secretly admits she came to Speare Island not to become the wife of Henry Gough Harding, but as an avenger, is not satisfied that the death of Lilly Warren, another candidate to wed Harding, was suicide. Bea makes another trip down to the beach via the funicular railway in which Lilly's body was found. There she finds evidence that something had come down the face of the cliff. Then a car comes down bearing Agnes Firth, who accidentally trips a lever that opens one end of the car. Bea saves Miss Firth from drowning. Strangely enough, Harding did not warn her about the lever as he had warned Bea.

* * *

XIX

HENRY HARDING was saving generator fuel again and the two women worked by candlelight. Nona McGuire held the cardboard carton while Bea stacked in the bottles and jars of cosmetics from Mrs. Warren's side of the dresser top.

"Don't you want any of these?" Bea asked.

Nona slammed the box down on the floor. "No, I don't want any of them! You know I couldn't use them now. And why'd you stop me at the graveside? I'd have told him a thing or two! I've given better funerals to pets of mine."

"What good would it do?" Miss Cosgrove asked.

"It'd just be decent to have some sort of service."

"I don't mean that. I mean telling Harding off."

"Well, I'd have felt better, anyway. That man! Honest he may be the kind you can feel sorry for when you don't have to be around him. But does he make you hopping mad!"

"Feel sorry for?" Bea asked in surprise. "Why should you feel sorry for him?"

"Oh I don't know. Maybe because he thinks he's so smart. Pretends to, I mean, while he plays his silly games. He puts up a good front all right, and hides behind it. Because he's jelly inside. And then, too, Mollie's got him."

"We all pretend," Bea pointed out. "You like to pretend you're dumb. A dumb blonde. But you were mad enough at Harding to let Stilwell's lie about your marriage pass. Or are you married to George?"

Nona laughed. "Fat chance."

"You like him though."

"I don't like him," Nona insisted. "Not while he's teamed up with Fred Stilwell." She opened the closet door, handed out the few garments Lilly Warren had left.

* * *

"THAT'S not much for a person to leave," Nona said. She picked up the sweater. "Lilly Warren. Good time Lilly! Blow your head off Lilly. It won't hurt as much as going on."

"You knew her well?"

"I knew her. She asked me not to tell anyone here, but that doesn't matter much now, does it? She used to come in the beauty shop where I worked. Gay. Full of life. Smart. Knew all the angles. She was willing to give me a hand. 'I'll get you out of the beauty parlor, honey, show you how to live. I'll show you how to get what you want out of life.'" Nona McGuire folded the green sweater carefully. Her hands shook as she put it gently back into the carton. "Well, you showed me, Lilly. Goodby for now."

Bea Cosgrove kept her voice harsh when she snapped, "Stop acting like the wayward daughter in a Z picture. Be yourself. She's just as dead as if she'd had a fine funeral and left 10 mink coats."

The younger woman's body relaxed, and her eyes shone with anger. "You're hardhearted, aren't you? Smirking and smiling and sympathetic on top!"

"I know," Bea said wearily, "and underneath I'm just flint."

"All right. Go ahead and laugh. I suppose it is funny to you to think someone would have any feelings. How'd you get that hard? Forty-year-old school teacher! Why do you lie about your age?"

"You think I'm older?"

"No. And it's an easy way to fool most people. When a woman says she's 40, people believe she's that at least. But you can't fool me. Where are the little lines around your eyes? Where's that sag in the chin? Where's that coarsening of the skin you need make-up to hide? If you've been using make-up, if you've tried to hide 10 years, it always shows to people who know. You're nearer 30 than 40."

"Have it your way. Shall we get to bed? At least I'm old enough so I appreciate a good night's sleep. Don't you want to leave your cot and take the other bed?"

* * *

NONA McGUIRE glared at her, did not answer. She walked stiffly to the cot, climbed in and pulled the cover so viciously it came up from the bottom.

Miss Cosgrove blew out the candle, made a more leisurely entrance to her own bed. She said, "Good night." She was certain the low mutter from the girl's cot was not an echo of that wish. She knew she would not sleep, yet she forced herself to relax, tried to make her breathing more even.

A long hour passed. A silent hour.

Nona's cot creaked. There was a little snuffle.

Bea waited.

The cot creaked again. The snuffle was clearer. Bare feet pattered on the floor.

"Miss Cosgrove! Miss Cosgrove! Oh please wake up!"

Bea sat up, reached out and took Nona's arm. "I'm awake. It's all right. I'm awake."

"T-t-tomorrow I won't act like this. I—I promise. T-tonight I can't stand it."

Miss Cosgrove pulled the sobbing girl into the narrow bed beside her. She held her until the shuddering subsided gradually.

"It'll work out, Nona," she said softly. "Go to sleep now. It'll work out."

Long after the girl was asleep Bea still held her. But it was to herself she tried to give some comfort now when she whispered, "It'll work out all right."

Pension Bill Voted By House

Would Allow $72 For "Vets" Of World Wars I and II At Age Of 65

By William F. Arbogast

WASHINGTON, June 2—(AP)—A $72-a-month pension for veterans of World War I and II passed the House Wednesday 365 to 27.

It now goes to the Senate where, its backers fear, it may encounter trouble because of the expense. The budget bureau has estimated it would cost $65,000,000,000 over the next 50 years.

The bill, substitute for a more costly proposal defeated by the House in March, would put into permanent law existing Veterans' administration regulations under which some veterans now receive pensions.

But it would liberalize these regulations, mainly by:

(1). Assuming that any veteran is totally and permanently disabled at age 65 and;

(2) Removing an existing "unemployability" standard saying that a 65-year-old veteran who can work half a normal day or earn half a normal day's pay shall not receive a pension.

Veterans administration regulations now require a showing of at least 10 per cent disability, after a medical test, for a 65-year-old veteran to receive the $72 monthly payment.

The new bill provides for no medical examination at age 65.

Boosts Income Limit

The bill also boosts to $1,200 the annual income limitation for a single veteran. Existing regulations deny pensions to a single veteran whose income exceeds $1,000 a year. There is no change in the $2,500 income limitation for a veteran with dependents. Also hiked to $1,200 is the income limitation for widows without children, whose present pension status would not otherwise be changed by the proposed new law.

The House debated the bill less than two hours before sending it to the Senate.

Most of that time was taken by discussion of the unemployability provision which the veterans' affairs committee said should be written into the bill over the objection of Chairman Rankin (D-Miss).

The House rebuffed the committee by knocking out the provisions on a standing vote, 172 to 57.

Rankin and others who opposed it called it unfair and discriminatory. They said no other government pension system, including that voted several years ago for Congress itself, has such a restriction.

"We didn't put any unemployability provision in our own pensions," commented Rep. Morris (D-Okla).

Rep. Magee (D-Mo) said he did not think the veterans administration has "been honest about it." He said "they don't want to give up their hordes of investigators" who now check on unemployability.

Veterans organizations joined in opposition to the unemployability clause.

Protect 'Basic Rights' Of All

MONTREAT, N. C., June 2—(AP) The legislative body of Southern Presbyterians Wednesday "accepted" a report contending that good Christians should protect the "basic rights" of all men, white and Negro.

Shortly thereafter the 89th general assembly of the Presbyterian church in the U. S. shut up shop and went home.

Behind them the commissioners left two major works—an agreement to increase cooperation with the northern denomination with a view to re-union, and orders to reorganize drastically the church's agencies.

The decision to cooperate with the Presbyterian church in the U. S. A. (northern), apparently paved the way for re-agitation of the whole re-union issue in the southern church.

At least half a dozen commissioners said privately that they felt the "moratorium" on re-union had gone by the boards and they were now free to campaign against the move openly.

The final day of the assembly saw the law-making body:

Avoid a straightforward stand on the subject of divorced persons remarrying in the church.

Water-down blunt opposition to euthanasia, or mercy killings.

Decide that the simple failure to register under the nation's draft laws "does not constitute conscientious objection of a religious nature."

Slight Damage In Collision

A small amount of paint scraping and a slight dent was the result of a minor auto accident at the corner of Third street and Ohio avenue Wednesday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock.

A 1949 Buick sedan owned and driven by Robert A. Cowan, 1115 East Ninth street, and a 1949 Hudson sedan owned and driven by Rev. B. Jones, 808 North Moniteau avenue, were involved in the accident.

Special Edition For Child Finally Dying Of Leukemia

TUCSON, Ariz., June 2—(AP)—A little girl for whom a special edition of a newspaper was published died Wednesday of leukemia.

Barbara Willis, 13, was one of the few people in Tucson who didn't know she was dying weeks ago.

Late in April Barbara developed a craving for watermelon, then out of season.

The child's predicament appeared in the local papers. The stories said she would die in a short time.

Barbara had read of other children developing a great desire for watermelon shortly before they died of the blood disease. When the Arizona Daily Star, in which an appeal was made for watermelon, was kept from her she told her mother, "I'm going to die. I've got the bad kind of leukemia."

The little girl refused to eat until she could see a copy of the newspaper.

Mrs. Willis went to the paper's editorial rooms. "Can't you print a story that will make Barbara happy?" she asked.

The paper thought it could.

The main edition of the Star for April 25 told that the child had only a few days to live, but that she would feast on watermelon as long as she liked.

The paper was made over and a story substituted which said Barbara was getting better. She would be all right before long, it reported, and the watermelon would be of great help.

Staff members delivered the special edition to the Willis home. Barbara read it in the morning, clipped the story about herself and gleefully showed the piece to friends.

She died Wednesday without knowing she was fatally ill.

BEAN LAKE, Mo., June 2—(AP)—Carl Harman, 56, of Atchison, Kas., died of a heart attack at his summer home on Bean Lake last night. He was a licensed municipal accountant at Atchison.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Buelah Harman, city hostess of Atchison; one son, Carlton Harman, and a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Highfall, both of Atchison.
